

Daycares reopening ^[1]

Interview with Janet LeBlanc & Kim Hiscott - The provincial government announced that childcare centres in Ontario will be allowed to reopen by the end of the week. One Ottawa childcare provider explains how she and her staff are preparing.

Author: Bresnahan, Robyn

Source: Ottawa Morning - CBC Listen

Format: Video

Publication Date: 10 Jun 2020

AVAILABILITY

Access audio clip online [11:36] ^[2]

DESCRIPTION

Two Ottawa child care providers share how their programs and staff are faring to re-open to families. Janet LeBlanc, director of the Bettye Hyde Cooperative Early Learning Centre, expresses fear and unreadiness for a safe reopening. On the other hand, Kim Hiscott, executive director of Andrew Fleck Children's Services, shared some of their well-thought out plans for staff retention, family engagement, and health protocol implementation based upon their experience of providing emergency child care. Both programs indicate the need for extra time to comply with additional health measures from the provincial guidelines released on June 9, 2020.

Related link:

Region: Ontario ^[3]

Tags: economic recovery ^[4]

health and safety guidelines ^[5]

policy ^[6]

Source URL (modified on 17 Jun 2020): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/20/06/daycares-reopening>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/20/06/daycares-reopening> [2] <https://www.cbc.ca/listen/live-radio/1-100-ottawa-morning/clip/15781241-daycares-reopening> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7856> [4] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/9038> [5] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/9037> [6] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/policy>