

Preventing crime with quality child care: A critical investment in Ohio's safety ^[1]

Author: Fight Crime: Invest in Kids

Source: Fight Crime: Invest in Kids ^[2]

Format: Report

Publication Date: 23 Feb 2004

AVAILABILITY

Available in print for order (see SOURCE) and online for download.

- Press release in pdf ^[2]

- Full report in pdf ^[2]

Excerpts from press release:

The report shows that Ohio stands to gain $218 million in child care assistance if Congress increases funding for CCDBG by $6 billion over the next five years. Congress is expected to vote on that proposal in the coming weeks.

Report makes the following points:

- Most low- and moderate-income families in Ohio need assistance to afford quality care for their kids.

- If an increase of $6 billion in CCDBG funding is not approved, Ohio would lose the opportunity to serve 3,300 additional children a year from low - and moderate-income families.

- Research proves that programs putting kids in touch with caring adults during the after-school hours cut crime and help kids learn the skills and values necessary to become contributing adults.

- Law enforcement professionals are nearly unanimous in their support of educational child care and after-school programs as a means to prevent crime and violence.

Region: United States ^[3]

Tags: funding ^[4]

accessibility ^[5]

school-age ^[6]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/04/03/preventing-crime-quality-child-care-critical-investment>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/04/03/preventing-crime-quality-child-care-critical-investment> ^[2]

<https://www.strongnation.org/fightcrime> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7865> [4] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/funding> [5]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/accessibility> [6] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/school-age>