Background

At the ECEC in Europe launch event on 3 March 2021, European Commissioner for Innovation, Research, Culture, Education and Youth, Mariya Gabriel, presented the report ^[9] on How to recruit, train and motivate well qualified staff.

The ET 2020 Working Group ^[10] on early childhood education and care published guidelines that examine the variety of professions and profiles working in ECEC settings, the need to recognise the value of their work, how to make the professions attractive and how well-trained staff contribute to high-quality ECEC.

The EU Quality Framework for ECEC, annexed to the 2019 Council Recommendation ^[11] for High-Quality ECEC Systems, recognises in its second principle the importance of ECEC staff.

Towards a European Education Area

Early childhood education and care policy has a key role to play in the Commission's vision to achieve a European Education Area [14] by 2025, as outlined in the 2020 Communication [15]. One of the dimensions of this vision is on teachers and trainers.

In particular, the Commission will support Member States in addressing teacher shortages and boosting the diversification and attractiveness of teaching careers.
