

Not enough qualified childcare workers in Quebec ^[1]

Author: News Staff

Source: CityNews

Format: Article

Publication Date: 28 Nov 2024

AVAILABILITY

Access online ^[2]

Excerpts

The CAQ government hasn't been able to attract and retain qualified daycare educators within the past three years.

Currently, there are over 7,000 educators working in the network, but only 278 are qualified workers.

According to data obtained by Radio-Canada, more than 10 educators have left the field daily for the past three years due to wages and working conditions.

...

New reports from CEGEPs also showed that the number of students who dropped out of the education training program has been on the rise.

Earlier this year, Quebec Auditor General Guylaine Leclerc pointed out that 41 per cent of childcare services did not offer quality services and that the proportion of daycares without qualified workers increased from 32 per cent to 46 per cent between 2018 and 2023.

...

Related link: Childcare workers to vote on strike mandate in November ^[3]

Region: Quebec ^[4]

Tags: recruitment and retention ^[5]

staff shortage ^[6]

Source URL (modified on 4 Dec 2024): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/24/11/not-enough-qualified-childcare-workers-quebec>
Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/24/11/not-enough-qualified-childcare-workers-quebec> ^[2]

<https://montreal.citynews.ca/2024/11/28/not-enough-qualified-childcare-workers-quebec/> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/24/10/childcare-workers-vote-strike-mandate-november> [4] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7855> [5]

<https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/8982> [6] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/9187>