Excerpts

Residents living in the Halifax Regional Municipality and East Hants will soon have more access to child-care spaces.

The Nova Scotia government says it's adding 286 new spaces to the two municipalities through child-care space creation programs.

The province is providing $7.6 million to support the new spots.

More than 6,500 new child-care spaces have been created in Nova Scotia since 2021, according to a news release from the provincial government.
