

Initial bids for ABC Learning NZ assets [AU] <sup>[1]</sup>

Author: Sydney Morning Herald

Source: Sydney Morning Herald

Format: Article

Publication Date: 27 Feb 2009

AVAILABILITY

See text below.

EXCERPTS

The New Zealand arm of the failed Australian childcare company ABC Learning Centres Ltd said credible buyers have made offers for the business. ABC Developmental Learning Centres (NZ) Ltd said a number of offers for all 127 centres in New Zealand are now being considered.

"The potential buyers are all highly credible and have significant experience in the New Zealand early childhood education sector," said general manager Craig Presland.

...

Occupancy at the centres remains above 83 per cent. The company is also selling its New Zealand College of Early Childhood Education. ABC Learning Centres went into administration and receivership in November, owing more than $A1 ($NZ1.29) billion.

- reprinted from Sydney Morning Herald

Region: International <sup>[2]</sup>

Tags: privatization <sup>[3]</sup>

---

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/09/03/initial-bids-abc-learning-nz-assets-au>
Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/09/03/initial-bids-abc-learning-nz-assets-au> [2]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/region/international> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/privatization>