Description: This toolkit is designed to help communities understand the work of the ECD Mapping Project and to use the information in their neighbourhoods to create positive change for children. It is intended to support communities within BC, although many of the ideas will be adaptable to other jurisdictions. The toolkit is designed to provide practical supports to communities. Please use its contents in ways that support your work. Individual graphics, lists and tables can be adapted for local purposes and can also be downloaded from the HELP website for presentations and sharing. At the end of some chapters will be a few questions intended to further your thinking and increase the local relevance of the content.
