

Stephen Harper asked about child care during Youtube interview ^[1]

Author: Talk Canada

Source: YouTube

Format: Video

Publication Date: 16 Mar 2010

AVAILABILITY

- Full video of Harper interview (child care question starts at 28:11) ^[2]

A Ryerson ECE student - Patrick M. - asked Stephen Harper a question about child care during his interview on Youtube.

Patrick asked why Harper has not invested in a national child care plan and said the $1,200 Universal Child Care Benefit "doesn't even make a dent in the actual cost of child care". He called the UCCB "an insult to families".

Harper responded by saying that his government has a "different approach" and that "parents want to make their own day care decisions". Harper also claimed that the "previous government promised to create a national child care system for many years. They spent billions of dollars; Canadian parents never saw any of that."

Region: Canada ^[3]

Tags: public opinion ^[4]

demand ^[5]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/10/03/stephen-harper-asked-about-child-care-during-youtube-interview>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/10/03/stephen-harper-asked-about-child-care-during-youtube-interview> ^[2]

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G5tWSMwhGkc&feature=featured> ^[3] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7864> ^[4]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/public-opinion> ^[5] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/demand>