

Spend on daycare instead of jails ^[1]

Letter to the Editor Re: Youth super jail 'isn't safe'

Author: Gibb Brighton, Mary

Source: The Toronto Star

Format: Article

Publication Date: 4 Apr 2010

AVAILABILITY

See text below

EXCERPTS

Allocating billions on superjails seems more important to the federal Conservatives than giving money to children for daycare. Large jails are not the answer, especially for young people. When the Ontario government under Mike Harris built them and went tough on crime, it did not get the results that Harris promised. We know preventative measures of solving problems are more cost efficient and effective. If the Conservatives are going to spend billions on superjails instead of daycare, we need an election before that money is spent.

Mary gibb, Brighton

-reprinted from the Toronto Star

Region: Ontario ^[2]

Tags: public opinion ^[3]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/10/04/spend-daycare-instead-jails>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/child-care-news/10/04/spend-daycare-instead-jails> [2] <https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7856> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/public-opinion>