

Setting our agenda on early learning, violence and physical environment ^[1]

Early Childhood Matters

Author: various

Source: Bernard van Leer Foundation

Format: Periodical

Publication Date: 5 Aug 2010

AVAILABILITY

Full issue in pdf ^[2]

Description:

This edition of Early Childhood Matters offers a first introduction to the Bernard van Leer Foundation's thinking as we flesh out our new goals for the period 2010 to 2015. In a keynote article programme director Michael Feigelson explains the foundation's preliminary thinking behind each of the new goals -- why they excite us, and what we hope to achieve. The other articles explore various aspects of the new goals and include contributions from the Wolfensohn Centre, WHO and UNICEF; an interview with UN special representative on violence against children, Marta Santos Pais; and country-specific insights from Brazil, the Netherlands and Turkey.

In this issue:

New horizons: The Bernard van Leer Foundation's new goals

Michael Feigelson

Scaling up Early Child Development

Sara Hommel

Care for Child Development

Meena Cabral de Mello, Nurper Ulkuer and Patrice Engle

"We need data to find out exactly what's going on"

An interview with Marta Santos Pais

Violence against young children: What does gender have to do with it?

Gary Barker and Marcos Nascimento

The status of children in local government spatial planning

Lia Karsten

Children of Turkish seasonal workers

Muge Artar

Space to play: Experiences from Sao Paulo

Marco Figueiredo

Improving the life chances of low-income young children in urban Brazil

Irene Rizzini and Malcolm Bush

Region: International ^[3]

Tags: physical environment ^[4]

international organizations ^[5]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/10/10/setting-our-agenda-early-learning-violence-and-physical>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/10/10/setting-our-agenda-early-learning-violence-and-physical> ^[2]

<http://www.bernardvanleer.org/Setting-our-agenda-on-early-learning,-violence-and-physical-environment> ^[3]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/region/international> ^[4] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/physical-environment> ^[5]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/international-organizations>