Details

Presented by the Acorn School, participants will be introduced to 4 Registered Early Childhood Educators working collaboratively in a Reggio inspired school in Richmond Hill who will share their teaching practices that include their philosophy, their environment and the classroom projects.

Taking into consideration that participants will be coming to this conference at various stages in their journey towards Reggio Inspired Emergent Curriculum, the day will be focused on sharing and engaging to assess comfort levels and next steps of implementation. This is professional development for our RECEs by RECEs. Participants will take from this a clear understanding of what is possible when teachers reflect on their values and beliefs about children, families and each other.
