

Cold comfort^[1]

Perception: Volume 28, No. 1 & 2 - Winter 2005

Author: Canadian Council on Social Development

Source: Canadian Council on Social Development

Format: Periodical

Publication Date: 25 Jan 2006

AVAILABILITY

Full issue available. See page 10 for "A cautionary tale from Australia" and page 22 for "The world we have: Towards a new social architecture".

Full issue in pdf ^[2]

Description:

Perception brings you news and views on social development issues like poverty and income security, employment, health, pensions, social services and more. Perception provides sound analysis, thought-provoking information, concise research results and fresh insights. It also highlights conferences, coming events, new publications and updates on social policy changes.

In this issue:

- A cautionary tale from Australia (by Lynne Wannan, Australian child care expert)
- The Progress of Canada's Children and Youth 2006
- The World We Have: Towards a new social architecture (by Katherine Scott)
- Rebuilding Social Programs (by Ben Carniol)

Region: Australia and New Zealand ^[3]

Tags: privatization ^[4]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/06/02/cold-comfort>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/06/02/cold-comfort> [2] <http://www.ccsd.ca/perception/2812/perceptionwinter05.pdf> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/region/australia-and-new-zealand> [4] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/privatization>