The child care matters to me ^[2] campaign is brought to you by concerned families in Ontario and is supported by early learning and child care organizations across the province.

The site allows families to directly message their MPP (and candidates in their riding) about the importance of child care and the need to modernize child care in Ontario. The site provides a forum for families to share their stories about why child care matters and an opportunity to connect to their social networks (facebook, twitter, etc.).
