The Vote Child Care 2015 campaign kicks off with an exciting Canada-wide week of action for child care, from May 10th to 17th. Spring into Action for Child Care is an opportunity to build support for a shared vision of affordable quality child care, and to make child care a prominent election issue in communities across Canada.

Provincial, territorial, Indigenous and local groups are working together to organize events to draw public attention to child care - events like town halls, door-to-door canvassing, rallies for child care, stroller brigades and community group picnics.

Week of action events will be updated daily, check out votechildcare.ca to find an event near you or send an email to info@votechildcare.ca ^[6] for more information.

Vote child care in 2015:

- give every parent the opportunity to contribute to the workforce, and strengthen our economy.
- ensure that all children have access to safe and healthy care.
- make it affordable for all - right now child care is the second highest household expense for Canadian families
