

Care of mildly ill children: Issues and national policy directions in child care ^[1]

Author: Polyzoi, Eleoussa & Mayer, Debra

Source: University of Winnipeg and the Manitoba Child Care Association

Format: Report

Publication Date: 31 Jul 2001

Excerpt from executive summary: This report describes the results of a project, conducted over three years, which examines the challenges that working parents face when their children are too ill for licensed child care. It examines parent preferences for different models of care, and compares and contrasts these preferences with those of child-care providers.

Region: Canada ^[2]

Tags: health ^[3]

special needs ^[4]

integration ^[5]

demand ^[6]

availability ^[7]

Source URL (modified on 27 Jan 2022): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/02/05/care-mildly-ill-children-issues-and-national-policy-directi>

Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/02/05/care-mildly-ill-children-issues-and-national-policy-directi> [2]

<https://childcarecanada.org/taxonomy/term/7864> [3] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/health> [4] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/special-needs> [5] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/integration> [6] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/demand> [7]

<https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/availability>