

No small matter: Child policy research ^[1]

Prepared for the 18th Annual Davidson Dunton Research Lecture

Author: Mahon, Rianne

Source: Canadian Policy Research Network ^[2]

Format: Speech

Publication Date: 21 Mar 2001

AVAILABILITY

Available online for download.

Full lecture in pdf ^[3]

Excerpt from lecture:

"I will begin by laying out three reasons why we need to pay attention to policies directed to children. I will then establish two dimensions of social policy that allow us to put Canada's response to these challenges into a larger context. In the third part I will use these to examine one example of child policy that I have worked on most - child care. And I will end with an assessment of where the National Children's Agenda might be headed and the vision I think should guide it."

Tags: federal programs ^[4]

Source URL (modified on 12 Nov 2021): <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/01/03/no-small-matter-child-policy-research>
Links

[1] <https://childcarecanada.org/documents/research-policy-practice/01/03/no-small-matter-child-policy-research>

[2] <https://cprn.org/>

[3] http://cprn.org/family/files/nsm_e.pdf

[4] <https://childcarecanada.org/category/tags/federal-programs>